Kindness & Tolerance - March 2018

Kai is a great example of a student who practices kindness and tolerance in our kindergarten class. He consistently uses kind words when talking to classmates and is quick to help a friend in need. Kai shows great tolerance for friends who occasionally chat on the mat or at their table spots at inappropriate times and does a great job giving quiet reminders to help those friends!

Jayda always uses kind words with other students and always has something nice to say about everyone. She is very tolerant of others when they may not be using a kind tone of voice. I love her sweet heart.

~Mrs. Koester

Brianna D. is an excellent example of kindness and tolerance. She is full of compliments and delivers them with her bright smile. She always includes everyone and makes them feel welcomed. When others are off task, she gives kind reminders to help her friends stay focused.

~Mrs. Worley

Mylie is always in a good mood and wants to be friends with all of her peers. Mylie seeks out kids on the buddy bench or those who don't have people to play with and includes them. She is tolerant of others. When she is frustrated she takes a deep breath and puts a smile on her face. Mylie is a role model to her peers.

~ Mrs. Ryan

Jose is well-known in our classroom for being both kind and tolerant. He can always be relied upon to be a kind friend, a devoted teammate, and even a peer tutor to anyone in need. On any given day, Jose sets the example of kindness and tolerance towards others and is highly respected by his peers and staff.

~Mrs. Arnone

Raeghan has an amazing ability to be kind to her classmates even when someone has been unkind to her. When she finds herself in a situation that a classmate is not being kind, she will use calm words to leave that situation and then seek help from an adult to settle the problem. She is a great example of kindness and tolerance.

~Mrs. Ruley

Colton is always considerate of others feelings and is one of the first students to give compliments in class. Colton truly showcases what it means to treat others the way that you want to be treated. I strongly believe that as Colton grows up into a young adult, he will continue showing others what kindness and tolerance means and I am so thankful to have that example set within our fourth grade classroom.

~Ms. Cervantes

Eden has a sweet temperament and treats others with a tender kindness that is refreshing to see. She always seems to look for ways to help others feel welcome. Eden does a good job of being tolerant of those whom she might disagree with. For these reasons, and many more, I nominate Eden Hosier for this recognition.

~Mr. Rosso

Luis is a fun loving person who always likes to make people smile. He exhibits kindness and tolerance in various ways throughout his school day. He is very generous and is always trying to find ways to make his friends happy. Luis's kindness comes in many forms; whether by saving a treat from Food Science class to share with his friends, or encouraging his classmates to get their work turned in on time.
